Welcome to a whole new world of non-ferrous metals!

In future, Schmidt Edelstahl will no longer merely be your partner for pattern-rolled stainless steel surfaces, but also, effective immediately, for copper and brass materials, with all of their different variations. By partnering with Aurubis, we have joined hands with one of the world's leading suppliers of non-ferrous metals and a global market leader in copper recycling. Over 150 years of experience speak for themselves. Together, we are creating new opportunities for the fields of object design and architecture. Taken an entirely NEW look at our well-known pattern rolling in this fascinating material.

Nordic Copper - Redesigning freedom of design

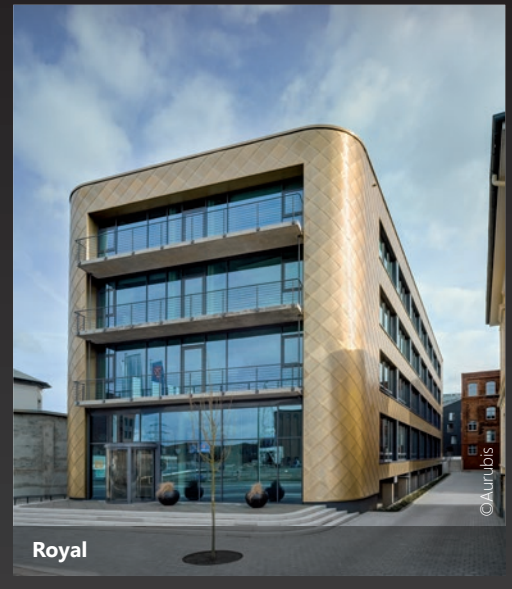

Over the past few decades, Aurubis has developed a range of in-factory surface treatments for the immediate production of various copper alloy oxidation and patination steps under the Nordic Copper brand name. These surface treatments are very similar to nature's own oxidation and patination processes.

As an additional finish, we also offer the same individual pattern rolling which you are already familiar with in our stainless steel range. In this way, you can choose from not only a variety of materials, polishes and strengths, but also bespoke patterns.
